

CENELEC website & collaboration tool Conditions of Use and Privacy Policy

1 Acceptance

Welcome to the CENELEC website. CENELEC requires that all visitors to our Website and/or collaboration tool adhere to the following Conditions of Use and Privacy Policy. Please read this text carefully. By accessing the Website and/or the collaboration tool, you indicate that you acknowledge and accept the Conditions of Use and Privacy Policy.

2 Disclaimer of Warranties and Limitation of Liability

All content, products, and services on this site are provided to you by CENELEC "as is" without warranty of any kind, express or implied, including but not limited to the implied warranties of merchantability and fitness for a particular purpose.

The information, software, products, and content published on this site may contain technical inaccuracies or errors, including typographical errors. CENELEC specifically disclaims any and all liability for such errors and reserves the right to make improvements or changes to the site at any time without notice.

You agree that CENELEC will not be liable, whether in contract, tort, strict liability, or otherwise, for any direct, special, incidental, punitive, consequential, or indirect damages (including, but not limited to, lost profits or lost opportunity) arising out of or in connection with the use of the site or with the delay or inability to use the site or a linked site.

This limitation of liability includes, but is not limited to, the transmission of any viruses which may infect a user's equipment, failure of mechanical or electronic equipment or communication lines, telephone or other connection problems, unauthorized access, theft, operator errors, strikes or other labor problems, or any force majeure. CENELEC cannot and does not guarantee continuous, uninterrupted access to the site.

Certain jurisdictions do not allow limitations on implied warranties or the exclusion or limitation of certain damages. If these laws apply to you, some of the above disclaimers and limitations may not apply.

3 Website Copyright

By visiting this Site, you understand and agree that all copyrights and trademarks will be respected.

All information and content included on this Site, including but not limited to text, graphics, logos, icons, images, audio clips, digital downloads, and product demonstrations; data and content compilations; and software, is the property of CENELEC or its content or software suppliers and is protected by the Belgian and international copyright laws. You may not modify, copy, distribute, transmit, display, publish, sell, or license any information from this Site without the express written consent of CENELEC and any applicable third-party owner or licensor.

You may not create derivative works, or use any information, content, or software available on or through this Site for commercial or public purposes without the express written consent of CENELEC and any applicable third-party owner or licensor. In addition, you may not reproduce, transmit, transcribe, store in a retrieval system, or translate into any human or computer language any part of the material and databases on this Site in any form or by any means whatsoever without the express written consent of CENELEC. Such consent may be requested by contacting CENELEC (info@cenelec.eu).

4 Information collected and stored automatically

As you browse through the CENELEC website, we may automatically gather and store information about your visit via cookies.

5 IEC/CENELEC collaboration tool – Conditions of use

The participant undertakes to use the information he or she receives within the electronic committees solely as intended to support the standards development work of the electronic committees, to desist from exploiting the information for other purposes, and to respect CENELEC and governmental data protection and copyright rules and regulations. In particular copyright applies to the published standards, the draft standards for vote and enquiry and the IEC equivalents (CDV, FDIS). This obligation on the participant survives termination of his or her participation in the electronic committees.

The passing-on of one's login name and password is not permitted. The participant agrees not to provide access to unauthorized persons.

The non-respect of any of the above conditions, may lead to the immediate suppression of the relevant access rights and termination of the participation in the CENELEC activities.

6 IEC/CENELEC collaboration tool – Privacy policy

The participant consents to his or her personal contact information being used and shared only to support the work of the electronic committees and in particular for the administration of access rights in connection with international and/or regional standardization in the electronic committees.

The permission to access protected working areas of CENELEC committees on the IEC/CENELEC collaboration tool server depends on the authorization by a CENELEC member body, Affiliate, Cooperating Partner, PSB, European Commission, EFTA or any other relevant organization which has appointed the user. A member body, Affiliate, Cooperating Partner, PSB, European Commission, EFTA or any other relevant organization may decide at their discretion to withdraw or modify this permission.

The data we collect can include (but not be limited to) full name, address, e-mail, phone and fax numbers. This data may also be made available to the officers of the committee, sub-committee, BT task force and working group to permit them to contact you. We will use such personally identifiable data only for business purposes within the CENELEC, which includes communication with the CENELEC National Committees.

The data related to the technical body officers are made available in the “CENELEC Directory” and in the “Working Group Directory”.

The National Committee which has nominated you to participate in CENELEC work has access to your record and can freely modify it.

To revise or correct personal data relating to your participation in CENELEC work, you should contact your National Committee.

7 Governing Law

This Privacy Policy is governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of Belgium. You agree to submit any dispute arising out of your use of this Web site and/or collaboration tool to the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of Belgium.

Last modification 2008-06-18